Vol. 7, No. 43 Tuesday, March 22, 1965 Provo, Utah

Statement of Policy

This newspaper is now under new editorial management. The following is an outline of the policies that are planned.

1. The Universe shall unreservedly adhere to the standards of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, in news stories, editorials, cartoons, and advertisements.

2. A sustained effort shall be made by the editorial staff to inject a judicious amount of humor into the Universe. Any suggestions or contributions from the studentbody or faculty members will be gratefully accepted.

3. All news stories shall be written as objectively as is consistent with human nature. Constant editorial scrutiny will be maintained to insure this.

4. The editorial staff solicits the assistance, advice, and contributions of all who read this Universe. All contributions submitted or publication are, of course, subject to editing.

5. Letters to the "Safety Valve" will be welcomed. These letters should be limited to 200 words. All letters should be signed.

6. The studentbody president has consented to write a weekly column in the Universe. This column is designed to keep students conversant with student government and school activities.

7. As members of the legislative council, the editor and business manager will investigate any grievances that are brought to their attention. Furthermore, they will exercise their legislative franchise as they deem consistent with the will of the majority of students.

8. Deadlines for routine news to be published in the Thursday edition of the Universe is 4 p.m. on Tuesdays. Deadline for the Tuesday edition is 5 p.m. on Fridays. It is extremely important that these deadlines be honored.

9. Universe policy shall be constructive in nature. It will support all projects that will better Brigham Young University or its students. The editorial staff will seek to avoid pettiness, erroneous statements, misleading statements, or any statement that might cause innocent persons to suffer.

10. Over all editorials this inscription will be placed: "All editorials are the honest opinions of the editor, who assumes responsibility for the material contained therein."

Belle of The Y Contests Begin With Cake Baking Match Today

Belle of the Y contests will begin today when 41 contestants enter cakes to be judged in the cake baking contest in the Social Hall.

Contest will be from 4:30 to 6 p.m., and cakes will be sold following the judging. Girls must enter their own cakes—cake mixes are excluded—which will be judged on texture, flavor, and originality of design.

A dancing contest will be held during the Wednesday mat dance in the Social Hall. Contestants must dance the waltz, fox trot and jitterbug and may choose their own partners. Judging will be on pose, rhythm, and style.

Thursday morning, the ten finalists will be introduced at student body assembly where students will vote to determine popularity. Thursday evening the girls will be judged on beauty, poise, and talent in a contest from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 261, McKay Building.

The Belle and her two attendants who will be presented at the Friday night dance in the Fiekhouse, will represent the girls on campus in the annual event. Winners will be judged on a point system with girls getting from one to ten points in each contest.

Belle of the Y Week is sponsored by Y Calcareus and Intercollegiate Knights and is money for a permanent shrine for the Old Y Bell which is rung at special school functions and after victorious athletic events.

Contestants are LaPrele Edouin, Berkeley, Calif.; Jan Nelson, Salt Lake City, Utah; Abby Garland; Becky Broadbent, Riverside, Calif.; Carol Sorensen, Santaquin; Barbara Wray, Mesa, Ariz.; Goldrick, Murray; Lavoy Coleman, Orem; Doris Humphries, Audubon, N.J.; Ann Layton, Layton; Carolyn Skoen, Ogden; Marie Lind, Tarzana, Calif.; Jane Judd, Hurricane; LaRee Adams, Monticello, Utah; Mary Ann Provo; Nola Carlisle, American Fork; Joan Schoenfeld, Parma, Ohio; Marilyn Brimley, Springfield, Mo.; Mary Ann, Evansville, Ind.; Joyce Austin, Las Vegas, Nev.; Mary Dawson, London, N.Y.; Seymour, Stockton, Calif.; Adrian

Social Unit Rush Solution to be Sought In Committee Hearings Set this Week

AWS-AMS Stumpers . . .

2-day Campaign Starts For AMS-AWS Hopefuls

Two days of campaigning began this morning for the Associated Men and Women Students primary elections. These elections will be held Thursday and Friday, according to Dee Jacobs, elections committee chairman.

Sixteen students are candidates for the seven positions, Jacobs said.

Running for AWS president are Carolyn Wallis, Vernal; and Mar De Paul, Long Beach, Calif. For vice president Cleo Brandley, Stirling, Alberta, Can.; and Maxine Reed, Denver, Colo., have entered the race.

Three coeds each are running for AWS treasurer and secretary. They are Elaine Striland, Chino, Mont.; Jeanne Holmes, San Carlos, Calif.; and Laketa Adams, Monticello, Ariz. For treasurer and Deslyn Edling, Glendale, Calif.; Barbara Hart, Oakland, Calif.; and Carol Harward, Los, for the secretary post.

Only six men have been nominated to fill the AMS elective positions, Jacobs said. They are David Leary, Lewisville, N.J.; and Mel Close, Las Vegas, Nev., for president; Bob Anderson, Seattle, Wash.; David Leary, Lewisville, Mich.; and Barrie McKay, Huntsville, for vice president; and Phil Brown, St. Johns, Ariz., for secretary.

In addition to their campaigning, expense for which is limited to $5, each candidate is required to furnish the election committee with one poster which will urge students to get out and vote. This is planned in an effort to boost voting percentages this year, Jacobs said.

Election tables will be set up in the McKay Building, Joseph Smith Building, and the Eyring

Science Center. If the weather is good during the two voting days the voting tables will be moved outside as a convenience to the voting students, Jacobs said.

Final AMS-AWS campaigning and elections will be held next week, Jacobs said.

Institute Gives Study Grant To BYU Prof.

A five year research grant totaling $32,000 has been given to Dr. Leo P. Vernon, Brigham Young University chemistry professor, by the National Institutes of Health.

A fellowship amounting to $2,500 will be awarded to a graduate student for research on this program. The Charles F. Kettering Foundation will award the fellowship, according to Vernon. Vernon will be assisted in the project by Fred White, a graduate student in chemistry. Money for the grant will be used for equipment and personnel.

Research under the grant will be on "Comparative Biochemistry of Bacterial Cytochromes."

Vernon explained that a basic understanding of cytochromes is necessary to understand the function of these enzymes in the metabolism of drugs and poisons.

Vernon, who did similar work at Washington University at St. Louis, Mo. for two years, became interested in the problem through participation of synthesis of these compounds.

Other graduate students, Ernel Ihlen, is now working on this phase of the problem.

General theme of the conference, "The Glory of God is Infinite," was planned to unite the class spiritually, according to Stratford. He asked that all freshmen support the project. It is the first class conference of this type to be attempted at Brigham Young University. Upsilonpsilon and interested guests may attend meetings.

Conference chairmen have been working with presidents of the various branches to arrange a spiritual program, Stratford said.

Provo Orthopedist To Give Address At Freshman Parley

Dr. Nephi Kezerian, Provo orthopedic surgeon, is scheduled to give the main address at the Freshman Conference, Saturday, it was announced by chairman Dick Stratford, Portland, Ore.

Dr. Kezerian will speak at the evening session, 7 p.m. Both this session and the other at 1:30 p.m. will be in the Smith Auditorium. General theme of the conference, "The Glory of God is Infinite," was planned to unite the class spiritually, according to Stratford. He asked that all freshmen support the project. It is the first class conference of this type to be attempted at Brigham Young University. Upsilonpsilon and interested guests may attend meetings.

IOC Group Plans Three Open Meetings

By Ralph D. Barney
Universe Managing Editor

Rushing procedure solutions are being sought from students by Brigham Young University social units.

A committee, appointed by the Inter-Organization Council, will hold three hearings this week in an effort to find a workable plan for social unit rushing. Criticism arose over tactics allegedly adopted last quarter by several units in rushing prospective pledges.

The committee, taken from IOC membership, is composed of two social unit presidents, Karl Snow, chairman, Viking president, and Nina Leishman, Cami Los president, and three IOC members-at-large, Wes Craig, Allen Thomsen and Orson Clay.

Committee was chosen after IOC members expressed disapproval toward a plan presented by unit presidents to limit membership in the units.

Social unit committee is interested in having anyone who has a workable plan in mind appraised.

Students interested in presenting a plan may make an appointment with the secretary in the Student Counseling Center, Karl Snow said. The coordinator's office is located in the basement of the Student Center.

Hearings will be held Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9:00-7:30 and Friday evening from 4:00-6:30, Snow said.

Snow said the committee hopes to reach a decision and present their recommendations to the IOC by March 28.

'Varsity Varieties' To Show Ability Of Native Dancers

Varsity Varieties for March will be presented on the Paramount stage Thursday night at 9:00. Being featured on the program will be the Kila Ora club, directed by Glenn Mitchell, Hawaiian club, under the direction of Rogers Alden, and Tribe of the Four Seasons, directed by Tony Purley.

The Kila Ora Club has recently been invited to attend the National Folk Dance festival in St. Louis, which will be held in May. The New Zealand dancers will be featured performers at the event.

"Natives' Paradise" is the theme of the show. It will include recitative pieces of the three participating clubs, as well as a special hoop dance by Tony Purley of the Tribe of Mary Peters.

Master of ceremonies will be W. C. Skousen, director of the Brigham Young University Alumni Services committee.

Special entertainment acts of the show will be provided by Byron Jensen at the organ. Varsity Varieties is presented once each month by the Student Program Bureau on the Paramount Theatre stage. It is under the direction of Jane Thompson, Student Program Bureau director. Proceeds from the show will go to the Alumni and Public Services scholarship fund.

Universe Meeting Today

All Universe staff members are requested to attend a staff meeting, which will be held in the Universe office today at 4:30 p.m. Staff meetings will be held every Tuesday at that time, according to Steve Hale, Universe editor.

Policy matters, news style, and makeup style will be discussed at today's meeting.

Campus Musicals Starts Tomorrow In Smith Building

Spring concert of the Brigham Young University musicals will be presented Wednesday, March 23, at 8:15 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Auditorium under the direction of Ralph G. Laycock, BYU music faculty member, it was recently announced.

Kay Mendenhall, Payson, will be featured as chorist soloist for the concert. He will play the solo part to "Second Concerto" by Mozart.

Highlighting the concert will be the presentation of "Symphony for Band," written by Frederick H. Clark, Springfield, Mass., a student in music composition. His symphony was recently played by the band on the discovery program.

The piece concert program is selected by careful and exacting audition, and is rated outstanding among college bands.

Dancer Loses Coat In '3-Step Shuffle'

Somebody got left out in the cold in what must have been a triple topcoat swap at the March 2 mat dance.

Lyman Kunz, Bern, Ind., didn't find his beige gabardine topcoat after the dance. He found an other almost like it. A note pinned to the coat read: "Lost to H. being claimed by Fred Col. Vernal, who had picked up a similar one at the dance. The one picked up didn't belong to Kunz, either."

Now there is a coat in lost and found and Kunz is going without. Somewhere, someone has the missing link in the coat puzzle. The coat is lost and found or to Kunz, 2745-W, could solve it.

Engineering Department Plans Reorganization of Courses

by Norman Akita — Universe Staff Writer

Reorganization of courses in the Department of Engineering Science was approved to be effective next autumn quarter. Dr. Jens J. Jonsson, chairman of the department of engineering science, has announced.

Discussions, Dr. Jonsson said, were held weeks ago by the engineering staff to consider present engineering courses. Discontinuance of certain courses, addition of new classes, and changing of credits resulted from the discussions by the staff. According to Dr. Jonsson, the schedule resulting from the reorganization of courses will be printed in the next Brigham Young University catalog.

In the Civil Engineering field, C.E. 270, engineering computations; and C.E. 280, engineering economics, will be discontinued. The graphics sequence will have three classes with eight credit hours. Classes in engineering mechanics will be changed to five hour courses. Cement technology, C.E. 130, will decrease from a five hour to a four hour class. One credit will be given to laboratory work in soil mechanics, C.E. 151, instead of two credits. Engineering practice, C.E. 160 and 161 will be replaced by C.E. 160, hydraulic design; C.E. 161, hydrology; and C.E. 170, civil engineering practice.

Courses in the Electrical Engineering field being changed or discontinued are: electrical engineering comprehensive, E.E. 199 to be discontinued; alternating current machinery, E.E. 113 and 115 to replace E.E. 113; laboratory courses of E.E. 260, 291, 292, and 293, which may be taken in different combinations, to replace E.E. 286, communications laboratory; and E.E. 141, electricity and magnetism, to be changed to three credit hours instead of four (now taught by electrical engineering staff).

Mechanical engineering field three courses will be discontinued. Courses are M.E. 22, manufacturing processes; M.E. 111, fluid mechanics laboratory; and M.E. 150, engineering administration. Classes to be added next year are M.E. 112, fluid dynamics; M.E. 150, manufacturing processes, in replacement of M.E. 22; M.E. 133, kinematics of machines in replacement of M.E. 130 for civil engineers; and M.E. 141, heat transfer. Credit hours in heat transfer, M.E. 22, will be changed to three hours rather than four hours.

Tired? Run Down? ...

Frustrated Students Gain Lift From Professor's Cartoons

by Larry Day
Universe Staff Writer

With the worry and frustration of final examinations pressing heavily on their minds, many students made special trips past the sociology department offices in the North Building last week.

Object for the detours was to gain a little respite from the trials and tribulations of daily life through some well chosen cartoons, magnanimously provided by Ray R. Canning, assistant professor of sociology.

New Cartoon Daily

Each day the genial instructor places a new cartoon on the door of the Sociology Department, under a heading "Today's Chuckle." The cartoons are chiseled by Canning with the care and understanding of a museum curator. They typify people and incidents that we see every day in every phase of living.

During regular sessions, some 200 students visit the "Cartoon Corner," each day. During test weeks when the pressure is on, the number increases.

"Today's Chuckle" was begun a few months ago when Canning moved to his present location in the North Building. Prior to that time the cartoons had adorned the walls of his office. Because of lack of space in his new surroundings, the sociologist found it impossible to put his cartoons up. But thinking, perhaps, he could give others the benefit of his collection, Professor Canning hit upon the idea of displaying a cartoon each day.

Typical Laugh

One of the typical cartoons depicted a woman standing behind a small table which held a glass and pitcher full of water. The woman's husband sat in front of her. The caption said, "Henry, I have several things to say." First Canning takes special delight in punning teachers. One very pointed caricature showed a small boy looking up at a teacher who was seated at her desk. The caption said, "Do you find it hard to stay ahead of us?" One of the crowning hits of satire displayed an executive sitting behind a large desk with several of his staff clustered around. The caption said, "What I want in this organization is a friendly spirit of cooperation—when I say jump."

Prof. Canning graduated from USAC with a bachelor's degree in sociology. He received his master's degree at Brigham Young

Publications Group To Convene Here For Annual Clinic

Student editors and business managers from college publications in eight mountain states will gather at Brigham Young University April 22-23 in the 1955 convention of the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Press Assn.

Talks by professional newsmen and publishing experts will be featured in the annual clinic devoted to the problems of campus newspapers, yearbooks, and magazines. Delegates have been chosen from 35 colleges and universities in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, and Nevada.

Jerry Cahill, former University editor, is president of the association. Other officers are Bill Olson, managing editor of the Idaho State College Bengal, vice president; and Eva Christensen, photographer, BYU University, secretary.

Coch Robinson's Cindermen Prepare for Arizona Opener

by Kent Marler
Universe Sports Writer

With one of the latest schedules in the history of BYU track activities, the 1955 cinder squad will be off on a ten-month season with their debut coming up April 2, with Arizona State.

Tempe, Ariz., will be the setting for the first Cougar competition. While the Sun Devils have experience the BYU boys cannot be counted out in any sense. Veteran Doug Spahnower, who today is one of the nation's top high jumpers, stands five-nine, and in 1954 seasonal action the Spring Lake led used a western roll to clear the bar at 6 ft. 9 inches.

Harry Anderson, Y basketball, also a letterman on the track crew, clips off a fast time of 9.6 in the 100-yard dash. Anderson looks to be the contender for sprint honors this year.

BYU Weightmen

Holding down the shot-put and discus spots will be senior Marvin Robertson, one of the top weight men in the Skyline circuit, and Gordon Smith. The man to head javelin activities will be big Charles Higgins.

Lewis Chatterly, one of this year's co-captains, will share pole vault activities with hustling John Gourley.

Injury Jinx

One obstacle the Cougar trackmen are contending with at the present time is injuries. George Larson, BYU entrant in the quarter mile run, broke his leg recently which will sideline him for the better part of the season. Max Black and Jim Andrus in the quarter mile are also recovering from injuries. Broad jumper Ben Brooks joined the ranks of injured men also and will not see action for some time.

Highlighting the two-mile run will be action by untiring Walt Steffenson, co-captain of the squad, and former conference champion of the long distance competition.

Robbie Optimistic

Coch Clarence Robinson is quite optimistic as far as the cinder crew is concerned. Robison explained, "With freshmen eligible for conference competition, and some of the lettermen we have returning, Western Division teams will have to be on their toes to top us."

Many of the newcomers to the squad will be moving into varsity lineup positions throughout the season.

Basketball Keynotes Intramural

by Jack Smith
Universe Sports Writer

With the all-school basketball champions being decided this week, the intramural department is proceeding with plans for spring quarter.

Badminton, paddle ball, table tennis will hold the athletes indoors until the weather permits, at which time horseshoe, doubles, tennis, doubles, and an all-school track meet will be held out of doors.

Several champions were crowned the latter part of winter quarter as the Hawaiian Club captured the bowling crown. Dee Payne, Mitch Elhardt, Norman Akita, Don Riggins and Roy Runnels were the island legends.

In the squash finals Cecil Clark of Provo, representing the Elder social unit defeated Johnny Velasco of the Hawaiian Club.

Javelin—Charles Higgins
Pole Vault—Lewis Chatterly, John Gourley.

Distance Runners—Sherald James, Wayne Lundell, Walt Steffenson, Dok Suk Shim.

Alumni Report

A look at a couple of Brigham Young's athletes that have gone far. . . Former BYU basketball great, Dean Larsen, coached and played on the successful Arlington Mission basketball team during the past year. The quintet was organized last September and won 35 of 36 games played against outstanding athletic clubs and all-star teams from Argentina.

The games were well attended as the LDS missionaries traveled over 5,000 miles and performed before 50,000 spectators. The team presented a wonderful opportunity to preach the gospel, according to reports, many conversations arose due to interest established by the missionary team.

Hank West, Cougar quarterback last year, received his mission call in February and reportedly will serve in the French Mission. Hank got notice of his mission call and word that the Air Force had accepted him for Observer Training during the same week!

Bouquets and Pleadings

This Corner wishes to acknowledge heartfelt thanks to those agencies that have been so cooperative during the past basketball season in aiding our coverage of the various events. Publicity drummer Dave Schultze, Athletic Director Edde Kimball, and Ticket manager Floyd Taylors were especially helpful in providing facilities and news and picture coverage of the BYU, M-Men, and Class B tournaments.

Coach Stan Watts of the basketball team and wrestling mentor Ed Nelson also came in for their share of handshakes for their formation and general help with regard to coverage of their respective sports during the winter.

Thanks also to the Sports Departments of the Provo Herald and Desert News-Telegram for use of their photographs when our shuttling wasn't able to cover the court tilts.

To those sports fans who supported the Cougar basketball and wrestling frays during the past year; you have been well rewarded by the inspired play of two fine clubs—keep up the good work and let the example for the many in the studentbody who do not attend the majority of Brigham Young's athletic contests.

Help Wanted

According to reports, the spring sports at BYU have been very poorly attended during recent years. Does this pertain to you?

Coaches Dave Cronson and Clarence Robison expect to find good baseball and track squads this year, but need help badly to round out successful season. That help is in the form of student attendance at these diamond and cinder meets. The same holds true for Buck team's tennismen.

If you don't know anything about these sports now is a good time to learn. Besides, it is mighty discouraging to those athletes representing YOUR school to give their best efforts when only a handful of students are cheering their efforts.

Attendance really peaked up at the wrestling matches this winter. Let's keep the ball rolling, students, and show OUR coaches and fans that we're behind them one hundred per cent!

Close of Student Ski Classes Causes Slight Skier Decrease

A notable decrease in the number of ski enthusiasts piliding down the slopes of Timb Haven was noticed last week with the close of winter quarter ski classes at Brigham Young University.

Since the start of the quarter in early January more than 280 BYU students have been spending weekly sessions on the snowy mountain slopes developing the techniques of one of the world's oldest and most popular winter sports.

Carnival Chairman Asks Composers To Write Pep Song

Budding Beethovens with bountiful beats have been invited to participate in a pep song contest for the BYU Invitation Track and Field Meet and Relay Carnival to be held this spring.

According to Iva Lou Peterson, chairman, a prize of $35 is being offered to the song considered the best for a track meet.

Those wishing to submit entries are asked to send both composition and entry blank attached to this announcement.

Contest Rules

1. Contest is open to anyone on campus.
2. All entries should include words and music.
3. Words should be typewritten or neatly printed in ink.
4. Words and music must be original.
5. Music should be submitted in ink on manuscript paper.
6. Two or more persons may collaborate.
7. The committee reserves the right to either the words or music of any entry.
8. Judging will be done by a previously appointed committee from the music and English departments and the "Jazz" committee.
9. The committee reserves the right to reject all entries in the event none are

Dr. Leona Holbrook, who has been directing skiing classes for the collegiates for the past ten seasons, estimates 2,700 hours of instruction were given this winter. Such large scale instruction, Dr. Holbrook reports, is due to an able staff of student instructors. No less than 14 students serve in teaching capacities throughout the quarter.

Classes were divided into three sections, with each section spending one afternoon a week on the ski slopes. The sections climaxed their instruction last week with "finale" involving a special trip to Brighton.

Student-instructors aiding Dr. Holbrook this quarter include Keith Holtz, Fred Dahler, Bob Melbo, Bob Porterfield, Jay Price, Harry Hill, Jack Lords, Mary Sorenson, DeVon Fife, Reed Jenkins, Garth Ubel, Durlin Newey, Jay Jensen, and Gary Brown. Regular instructors were Earl Miller, Junior Bonous, Don Jensen, Mary Jensen, and Cynthia Cowan.

Judged to be appropriate for the occasion, the contest closes May 15, 1957. 11. Submit composition with entry blank to Iva Lou Peterson, Chairman of Pep Song Contest, 48 West Eighth North, Provo, or mail to 48 West 8 North, Provo.

Corporations to Interview Applicants

Representatives of two corporations will interview candidates for positions in their firms this week, according to B. Keith Duffin, director of placement.

R. L. Miller, who represents the Crown Zellerbach Corporation, will interview prospective graduates in chemistry and accounting. Graduates in general business and liberal arts will be considered for sales positions with that firm.

Sales, accounting and technical seniors and graduates will be interviewed by Edward G. English, executive assistant of Bethlehem Pacific Coast Steel Corporation. He will interview seniors who wish to be candidates for the Bethlehem Steel Training Program.

Starting salary for the training course will be $380 per month on a full-time basis. Only students receiving degrees between January 1 and July 1, 1955, qualify for this year's program.

Interested students should schedule appointments at the placement center before the days of interview, Duffin said.

Campus Policeman Vows Crackdown

Student drivers who plan to rush right into spring this year will find themselves facing tougher opposition, according to Capt. Leonard E. Christensen, Brigham Young University security officer.

Capt. Christensen predicted the usual rash of speeding that comes with spring weather. He warned campus motorists that speed violations with ensuing $5 fines will be strictly regulated.

Maximum campus speed is 20 m.p.h., but any speed greater than is safe under existing conditions constitutes a violation.

Physics Student Wins Fellowship

B. Kent Harrison, Spanish Fork, has received a fellowship from the National Science Foundation. Amount of the fellowship is $1,300 plus tuition costs.

Harrison is a senior and is majoring in physics. He is the son of Dr. Bertrand F. Harrison, Brigham Young University Department of physics.

This fellowship can be used at the university of Harrison's choice. It will be used for advanced study leading to a doctorate in the field of quantum physics, which deals with atomic particles. This study is indirectly connected with nuclear physics.

Approximately 700 of these postdoctoral fellowships are given each year. Recipients are chosen on ability and recommendations.
